HOW TO REPLY TO THIS NOTICE:

I. Review the SMALL ENTITY status shown above.

If the SMALL ENTITY is shown as YES, verify your current SMALL ENTITY status:

A. If the status is the same, pay the TOTAL FEE(S) DUE shown above.

B. If the status above is to be removed, check box 5b on Part B - Fee(s) Transmittal and pay the PUBLICATION FEE (if required) and twice the amount of the ISSUE FEE shown above, or

If the SMALL ENTITY is shown as NO:

A. Pay TOTAL FEE(S) DUE shown above, or

B. If applicant claimed SMALL ENTITY status before, or is now claiming SMALL ENTITY status, check box 5a on Part B - Fee(s) Transmittal and pay the PUBLICATION FEE (if required) and 1/2 the ISSUE FEE shown above.

II. PART B - FEE(S) TRANSMITTAL, or its equivalent, must be completed and returned to the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) with your ISSUE FEE and PUBLICATION FEE (if required). If you are charging the fee(s) to your deposit account, section "4b" of Part B - Fee(s) Transmittal should be completed and an extra copy of the form should be submitted. If an equivalent of Part B is filed, a request to reapply a previously paid issue fee must be clearly made, and delays in processing may occur due to the difficulty in recognizing the paper as an equivalent of Part B.

III. All communications regarding this application must give the application number. Please direct all communications prior to issuance to Mail Stop ISSUE FEE unless advised to the contrary.

IMPORTANT REMINDER: Utility patents issuing on applications filed on or after Dec. 12, 1980 may require payment of maintenance fees. It is patentee's responsibility to ensure timely payment of maintenance fees when due.

Detailed Action

Reasons for Allowance

1. Claims 10,11,13-15,17,19, and 21 (renumbered 1-8) are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

This application is for a write head.

- Claim 10 specifies a write head which requires:

"...a second magnet pair of two permanent magnets disposed upstream of said inductive write element relative to said direction of medium movement, with respective magnetizations of said two permanent magnets in said second magnet pair comprising magnetization components that are oriented oppositely to each other in a direction perpendicular to the surface of the recording medium, with the respective magnetizations of said two permanent magnets in said second magnet pair being oriented oppositely to the respective magnetizations of said two permanent magnets in said first magnet pair, said second magnet pair producing a second stray magnetic field having a strength sufficient to longitudinally magnetize said recording medium for recording said information on said recording medium."

These features, in combination with the other features of Claim 10 are not anticipated by, nor made obvious over, the prior art of record.

- Claim 13 specifies a write head which requires:

"...a second inductive write element, disposed next to said first inductive write element, supplied with said current to produce a second basic magnetic field embodying said information, said second inductive write element having a gap therein, and a second magnet pair of two permanent magnets disposed in said gap of said second write element with respective components perpendicular to the surface of the recording medium of the magnetization vectors of said two permanent magnets in said second magnet pair oriented oppositely to each other, said second magnet pair producing a second stray magnetic field...."

These features, in combination with the other features of Claim 13 are not anticipated by, nor made obvious over, the prior art of record.

- Claim 15 specifies a write head which requires:

Art Unit: 2627

“...a second single pole write element having a write pole disposed next to said first single pole write element, said second single pole write element being comprised of soft magnetic material and being supplied with said current to produce a basic magnetic field, embodying said information, diverging from the tip of said write pole, and a second magnet pair of two permanent magnets respectively disposed on opposite sides along said medium movement direction, of said write pole of said second single pole write element, with respective components parallel to said medium movement direction of the magnetization vectors of the two permanent magnets in said second magnet pair oriented oppositely to each other, said permanent magnets producing a stray magnetic field, with a sum of said basic magnetic field and said stray magnetic field forming a write field for perpendicular recording of said information on said recording medium; and the respective magnetizations of the two permanent magnets in said first magnet pair being oriented oppositely to the respective magnetizations of the two permanent magnets in said second magnet pair.”

These features, in combination with the other features of Claim 15 are not anticipated by, nor made obvious over, the prior art of record.

- Claim 17 specifies a write head which requires:

“...a multitude of wedge shaped permanent magnets sectioned into the soft magnetic material, converging at the center of said write pole, with respective magnetization vectors of said permanent magnets comprising magnetization components in a plane parallel with the surface of said medium that are essentially radial to the center of said write pole and in sum essentially equal to zero to produce a stray field in a direction opposite to the direction of said perpendicular pre-magnetization vector, with a sum of said basic magnetic field and said stray magnetic field forming a write field for perpendicular recording of said information on said recording medium.”

These features, in combination with the other features of Claim 17 are not anticipated by, nor made obvious over, the prior art of record.

- Claim 19 specifies a write head which requires:

“...magnets in said second multitude of permanent magnets having respective magnetization vectors of said permanent magnets having components in a plane parallel with the surface of said medium that are essentially radial to the center of said second multitude of permanent magnets and in sum essentially equal to zero, and the respective magnetizations of the permanent magnets in said second multitude being oriented oppositely to the respective magnetizations of the permanent magnets in said first multitude, said second multitude producing a second stray magnetic field and the permanent magnets thereof being composed of permanent magnetic material selected so that said second stray field has a strength sufficient to perpendicularly magnetize said recording layer in said recording medium for recording said information on said recording medium."

These features, in combination with the other features of Claim 19 are not anticipated by, nor made obvious over, the prior art of record.

- Claim 21 specifies a write head which requires:

"...a second single pole write element having a write pole, said second single pole write element being composed of soft magnetic material and being supplied with said current to produce a basic magnetic field, embodying said information, diverging from the tip of said write pole, and a second multitude of wedge shaped permanent magnets sectioned into the soft magnetic material, converging at the center of said write pole with respective magnetization vectors of said permanent magnets having components in a plane parallel with the surface of said medium that are essentially radial to the center of said write pole and in sum essentially equal to zero, said permanent magnets producing a stray magnetic field, with a sum of said basic magnetic field and said stray magnetic field forming a write field for perpendicular recording said information on said recording medium; and the respective magnetizations of the permanent magnets in said first multitude of permanent magnets being oriented oppositely to the respective magnetizations of the permanent magnets in said second multitude of permanent magnets."

These features, in combination with the other features of Claim 21 are not anticipated by, nor made obvious over, the prior art of record.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
